Donated to the National Library of Scotland on behalf of the Clan Gregor Centre in February 1999. This is the second of three (as of April 2004) Clan Gregor deposits: for the first, see Acc.10664; for the third see Acc.12335.

This inventory has been compiled by Sheila McGregor, FSA Scot, for the Clan Gregor Centre.

Introduction:

This material represents the contribution of a rather small number of active individuals to the Clan Gregor Centre over many years of collecting and compiling. It represents both traditional knowledge and many years of research. It has occasionally been possible to attribute a file to a named individual but in most cases the folders are composite collections from many sources and these are attributed to me in my capacity as curator and general editor.

The members of the Clan as a whole, who are extremely numerous, owe the active few a great deal since they have been among the very few to keep hold of their real past and to avoid the romantic escapism that pervades modern Highland culture, if that is the right word. It has been possible, with the support of these few active members and the willing collaboration of the National Library of Scotland, not only to preserve their knowledge but often to extend it since modern research tools have made it sometimes possible to find solutions to long-standing problems. I believe The Quaich and the Clan Gregor Centre's compilation of archival data marks a high point in the state of our understanding of Clan Gregor as an ethnic body which may stand for a very long time.

However our new-found ability to collect and marshal data has also demonstrated the very severe limits on the available information which no amount of searching or listing will remedy. Very few pedigrees get past the 1800 barrier, and many fail before then. Only in the United States are there secure pedigrees back to the seventeenth century which then lead back to Scotland, a fact that might surprise the many Scots who know little or nothing about Scottish settlement in America.

When the information comes to an end, one can either search around persistently in the hope of finding something new, and persistence is sometimes rewarded, or one can focus on one element of the case or broaden one's interest to the whole Clan. In Clan Gregor we do at least have a Clan of enormous and still virtually unexplored interest and importance, which survived intact in its Highland fastness well into the sixteenth century and which is thus recorded in all its primeval splendour despite the almost total lack of literacy among its members.

It is hoped to make one final deposit of Clan Gregor material relating to the later history of the Clan and to its main branches, attempting to reconcile the various known pedigrees, and the ever-present problem of Rob Roy and his descendants, or lack of them. For those who are looking here in hope of finding a link, I can only advise that some twenty years of experience now suggest that family traditions of descent are almost invariably an improvement on the actual situation of a family link in the broadest sense, to Clan Dougal Ciar as the southern branch of Clan Gregor. Indeed, every member was to some extent related to Rob Roy, but actual descendants tend to know their relationship and do not have to prove anything. There are exceptional discoveries still to be made but on the whole it is evident that the percentage of genuine claims is very small, and that even in cases that are likely to be genuine there is rarely enough information to confirm or reject the link.

A further deposit will also be made of the Names of the Clan and the reasons for their use, based on new research done by myself over the past few years, but based on the information gathered by Forbes Macgregor (see his article 'Who is a MacGregor?'), by Frank Adam (Clans, Septs and Regiments) and to a lesser extent by earlier writers. One may say here that the many and varied family traditions that I have been privileged to collect almost all show a direct link with the preliterate population of Highland Perthshire. It is in fact difficult to identify many families from some parishes such as Balquhiddy and Kenmore that are not part of the Clan, incoming feudal families always excepted.

In many cases a reference to The Quaich is given. This is the Clan Gregor research journal published in twenty parts (five volumes of four parts each) from 1989 to 1996. The pages in each volume are numbered again from 1 and there are approximately 40 pages in each part. The finished article, as published, may be more complete than the bound material; in other cases there is some interesting background material in the file that was not published.

- 1 McGREGOR, Sheila (ed), for the Clan Gregor Centre Archive, 1999. Confusion of Identity: the MacNies and MacNeils of Perthshire; from papers sent by Gordon M McNeil of Bearsden, with his family line back to John McNie, Inverenty, Balquhiddy (m. Christian McGregor, 1768), notes on other McNies, and an introductory note by the editor on the use of these names in Perthshire. Quaich vol 3 (12), 125-128.
- 2 McGREGOR, Sheila (ed), for the Clan Gregor Centre Archive, 1999. A Family from Glengairn, Aberdeenshire - James MacGregor and Janet Ritchie of Glenmuick. A textbook example of the use of resources and the validity of conclusions. Various researchers including Dr Richard McGregor. Quaich vol 3 (11), 93; (12), 105-114.
- 3 McGREGOR, Sheila (ed), for the Clan Gregor Centre Archive, 1999. The MacGregors of Moyarget, County Antrim, N Ireland. From information sent by Miss Eleanor Gray. Some additional scraps of information relating to MacGregors in N. Ireland. No discoveries were made despite a mail-shot to every MacGregor in the telephone directory. Quaich vol 1 (4), 115-118.

- 4 McGREGOR, Sheila (ed), for the Clan Gregor Centre Archive, 1999. Assorted Gregg Papers, vol 1. 'Our German, Pilgrim/Quaker Ancestors' (Hazel M M Kendall, 1944). Notes sent by Janice Beeson (1996). Descendants of William Gregg, 1642-1687, 'the Quaker', from southern Ireland after October 1682. With an index.
- 5 McGREGOR, Sheila (ed), for the Clan Gregor Centre Archive, 1999. Assorted Gregg Papers volume 2. Notes on the genuine family surnamed Kennaway, a name that has no known link with Clan Gregor but which was used by Katherine Stuart in her pseudo-history Richard Kennoway and his Friends (1908) of which the few real events refer in fact to Greigs living in the village of Kennoway in Fife. Kennoway was in fact home to the ancestor of Edvard Grieg. Quaich, vol 4 (no 15), 85-88. More Quaker Greggs. Rev. James MacGregor 1676/7-1729 of New Hampshire (Alice L Priest). List of Gregg references. The fictional 'Line of David' born c.1600 in Glenorchy and reasons for the fiction. Greig as a Lowland name (Andrew Greig). Quaich vol 5 (17), 7-8. Edvard Grieg. Quaich vol 4 (15), 89-97.
- 6 McGREGOR, Sheila (ed), for the Clan Gregor Centre Archive, 1999. Assorted Gregg Papers vol 3. Various Gregg lines from Londonderry and New Hampshire. Family history from Joseph Gregg c.1742-c.1824 (Sande Parks). Jane Greig from Banff, Scotland. A Quaker line. Graggs. Early American Greggs and others. Quaich vol 4 (16), 139-142; vol 5 (17), 4-6.
- 7 McGREGOR, Sheila (ed), for the Clan Gregor Centre Archive, 1999. Assorted Gregg Papers vol 4. Captain James Gregg b Ayrshire 1678 (Dr Herb Dedo). Quaich vol 3 (10), 49-52. Greggs in Scotland in the 1600s. George James Greig b. Anstruther, Fife, 1840. Craig as a possible version. Gleig in Stirling. John son of Captain David killed in Ireland 1689. The origin of the name David used by this Scots-Irish community.
- 8 McGREGOR, Sheila (ed), for the Clan Gregor Centre Archive, 1999. Assorted Gregg Papers vol 5. Autobiography of Major Samuel Gregg grandson of Captain James of Ayrshire, written c.1806. Tree showing descents from James. Robert Gregg and descendants of Virginia. Gregg family compiled by John Bailey Gregg (1986), from Daniel Gregg, Donegal d.1851. A line from Robert once of Virginia (John, Robert, Samuel, Henry). The Hanging of Maston Gregg by M H Hudson. Griggs. Greigs in Kirkcaldy, Fife.
- 9 ARTHUR, John Preston. A History of Watauga County, North Carolina (1915). Photocopied extracts of all references to Greers; other possible Clan Gregor names listed include Calloway, Cole, Ferguson, Gragg, Greer, Grider, Grier, Griever, McCaleb (for McAlpine?), McGhee, McGinnis, McNeil, McQueen, Miller, Patterson, White, Wilcox, Wilson, Wright.
- 10 LDS INDEX: an index to all Clan Gregor material in the Family History Library of the Church of the Latter Day Saints, Salt Lake City, October 1991.

- 11 ESPOSO, William Macgregor. The MacGregors of the Philippines. The family of Ian Collier Trotter MacGregor, he the son of Roderick McGregor and Ann Urquhart Trotter of Killearnan, Ross-shire, he the son of William McGregor and Helen Gillanders. With some correspondence.
- 12 MCGREGOR, Sheila (ed), for the Clan Gregor Centre Archive, 1999. Magruder Compilation: 1. 'Twelve Generations in America: Some Descendants of Alexander MacGregor (sic), Scots Immigrant to Maryland, 1652, and of his Great-great Grandson, Archibald Magruder, Kentucky Pioneer, 1790' (W C Barrickman). 2. 'The McGruder Lineage in Scotland to Magruder Family in America' (Charles G Kurz, American Clan Gregor Society Yearbook 1979, based on research by John MacGregor WS ('The McGrouthers of Meigor in Glen Artney', 1910), and by Thomas Garland Magruder, Jr. The earliest identified are Gillespie (The Cruiter) MacGregor c.1375 and Gilawnene McCrouder c.1413. 3. 'The Ancestral History of Margaret Campbell of Keithick' (1571-c.1631) (Charles G Kurz, ACGS Yearbook).
- 13 BEAL, Caroline. Greer Notes: apparently referring back to James Greer the Emigrant born 1627 (perhaps) in Scotland but hard information is hard to find. Bound in three parts, a, b and c.
- 14 MCGREGOR, James G. The Story of a Tennessee Pioneer: Willis Nord McGregor c.1850. With additional photographs and details of the Tudor/Tutor McGregor family of Mississippi with index. Information about a Tutor compilation by Betty Ann Hellums Rowland, 1980.
- 15 MCGREGOR, Sheila (ed), for the Clan Gregor Centre Archive, 1999. Clan Gregor Heirlooms. A catalogue of items in the possession of the Clan Gregor Society, including those from Glengyle House (the Blair Bequest), a basket-hilt sword marked I.M. Note on the MacGregor Chief's suites, sold c.1980 by Sir Gregor MacGregor of MacGregor.
- 16 MCGREGOR, Sheila (ed), for the Clan Gregor Centre Archive, 1999. Clan Gregor Coats of Arms. General notes on Scottish Crest badges by J I D Pottinger. Scottish Heraldic Flags, reprinted by courtesy of the Lord Lyon. Coats of arms as used by the Chief, the Clan Gregor Society, Sir Evan Murray MacGregor, James MacGregor of the Queen's Hotel (owner latterly of Glengyle House), the Greers, the Glengyles, the Murray MacGregors, His Honour Judge Macgregor, Irish families of Gregory, Gregson, and Greig (not illustrated), and some discussion of Sir Evan's English concoction. The arms invented for himself by Robert Burns, a crook crossed on a pipe above a small bush, with the two mottoes 'Wood Notes Wild' and 'Better a Wee Bush than Nae Bield' (better a small bush than no shelter). A few oddities and unidentified arms. The Clan Hooter achievement.
- 17 ARTHUR, Robert. Some Gregg Lines. New Orleans, Louisiana, 1952, revised 1958. The lines of David Gregg of Londonderry, Ireland; William Gregg of Newcastle County, Delaware; Gregg of Washington County, PA; Robert Gregg of Carrick-on-Shannon, Ireland; Captain James Gregg of Londonderry, NH; Gregg of South Carolina; Gregg of Warren County, PA.

- 18 ARTHUR, Robert. Gregg, 1964. A third edition of this compilation. Only the line of David Gregg and that of William Gregg are given.
- 19 FOSS, Joseph. McGregors of Lochaber in the 18th and 19th Century (1981). Lists extracted from the 1841, 1851 and 1861 Censuses for Kilmallie Parish, Valuation rolls and other sources. It is possible to propose two sons of James Mor somewhat confused in newspaper reports: James born 1753 at Glenorchy (Dalmally), dying in November 1850 aged 97, and his older brother Donald the proposed ancestor of the writer. Proof goes wanting, indeed, but circumstances are propitious. Quaich vol. 5 (no 19), 119-120.
- 20 GREGG, John Bailey. Gregg Family Genealogy, updated to 1986. Daniel Gregg of Ramelton, County Donegal, Ireland (died 1851). MS copy # 12, presented to Sheila McGregor by the author.
- 21 PROSSER, Glenn. The Saga of Black Canyon; the story of the MacGregors of Estes Park (Colorado). The ranch is now a national monument. Alexander Q MacGregor of Milwaukee, married Clara Maria Heeney, three sons George, Donald and Halbert; Donald married Minnie Maud Koontz and their daughter Muriel (d.1970) was the last MacGregor on the ranch.
- 22 MCGREGOR, Sheila (ed). Published Sources for Clan Gregor Family Histories
- 23 MacGREGOR, Alastair. 'Moses MacGregor and Tamnourie, Dumbartonshire'. Part published in Quaich vol 2 (5), 21. Census lists from Luss parish.
- 24 MCGREGOR, Sheila (ed), for the Clan Gregor Centre Archive, 1999. Stirlings: 'The MacGregor-Stirling Family of Perthshire' by Professor Graham Reader, University of Calgary, Canada. 'A descent from Patrick McGregor or Stirling of Miltoun' (Leslie Wylie MacGregor of Beecroft, NSW). 'Stirlings and Other Families of the Lennox' (S McGregor). 'Stirlings of Gladsmuir' (E S Hardie). Correspondence on reason for protection; possible blood relationship (L Stirling); was the Laird of Ardoch in 1634 a MacGregor? James Stirling b.1774, founder of the Scottish Temperance League in Quaich vol 1 (2), 49 and vol 1 (4) 104.
- 25 GREGOR, Phyllis. The Rev. John Gregor (born 1808 Banff, died 1848 New South Wales). An unpublished biography, with some illustrations and much background correspondence.
