Papers of the Scottish Library Association
Scottish Library Association History

Following a meeting at the fourth Library Association conference in Scotland, in Glasgow 1907, Scottish librarians discussed the question of forming a branch of the Association, or establishing a separate Association for Scotland. The Scottish Library Association (SLA) was formally inaugurated at a meeting held in Edinburgh on 24 October 1908. In 1929 The SLA was invited to become a branch member of the Library Association. In 1930 members voted 174 to 8 in favour of a closer union between the two Associations. The new ‘branch’ of the Library Association retained the constitution of the Association it superseded, and the fact that Scottish libraries operate under their own Acts of Parliament gave the new branch a status in the Library Association different from that of the regional branches in England and Wales. In 2002 the Chartered Institute of Library and Information Professionals (CILIP) was formed as a result of the amalgamation of the Library Association and the Institute of Information Scientists. At this time CILIP in Scotland (CILIPS) was formed. The relationship between CILIP and CILIPS is defined by an internal agreement signed in 1995 which gives the basis for CILIPS to operate under a devolved model. Policy, finances, operational matters and advocacy are devolved to CILIPS Council and Staff.

Scope and Content

The archive contains the minutes, correspondence, committee papers, working group papers and reports produced by the SLA from 1912-2005, before it became CILIPS in 2002. Also included are photographs from various SLA conferences, video cassette tapes and CD-ROMs produced by the AV Scot Archive which is the Scottish branch of the Library Association Audio Visual Group. The archive contains a small collection of materials belonging to William B Paton, former President of the SLA, and a number of Dissertations and Theses which were held by the SLA. The archive also contains a small selection of correspondence with the Library Association as well as minutes from several Library Association committees.

Arrangement

The Accession originally came with materials from the Library and Information Services Council Scotland (LISCS) and the Scottish Library and Information Council (SLIC). These materials were removed to become Acc.13657.

The earlier SLA minutes are in bound volumes with later years placed into folders. This order has been maintained by adding the materials from their original folders into manuscripts folders. The working group papers and reports have been arranged chronologically, but in instances where there is the same start date, the group with the shortest duration appears first. The original working group papers were in designated folders and this order has been maintained in their transfer to manuscript folders. The photographs were originally put into a single box, most often loose and without any identifying marks. Loose photographs have been gathered into manuscripts folders while those photographs which were originally in their protective packets have been placed directly into archive boxes to maintain their original order. The W.B. Paton archive has been added to the end of the SLA archive, along with the dissertations and theses held by the SLA.

A small number of papers held by the SLA but not part of their minutes, correspondence, committee papers, working group papers and reports, have been added to the SLA miscellaneous papers section at the end of the archive.
